but al shabaab rebels, squeezed out of their redoubts in southern and central somalia by african peacekeepers, have slowly infiltrated puntland, regional officials say.

i had known most of those individuals for at least three years